As an accomplished full-stack developer with a specialized focus on React.js, React Native, and functional programming using Ramda, I bring a rich blend of technical expertise and leadership. My diverse roles have ranged from CEO to CTO, equipping me with a unique understanding of project execution and team management.

These experiences position me ideally for a Senior Front-End Developer role, where I can transform client needs into robust, user-focused web applications, while effectively communicating with stakeholders and leading team projects.

Work Experience

CEO. CTO . Front End Developer

Harzaan - Sulaymaniyah

January 2017 to Present

Led the development of Harzaan, a premier classified ads service for Iraq/Kurdistan, aspiring to dominate the regional market.

Initiated the project, crafting the first website and mobile application utilizing ReactJS and React Native. Upon securing investment, I spearheaded a complete overhaul of the project, hiring top-tier talent for rebranding, redesign, and recoding, elevating the project's quality.

Since its launch in 2017, I've guided its maintenance, updates, and upgrades, gaining invaluable insights into managing a live production project

Project Manager, Front End Developer

Zeyton - Erbil

January 2014 to April 2016

At Zeyton, I seamlessly blended the roles of Project Manager and Senior Front-End Developer to build a formidable social knowledge platform designed to compete with industry titans.

Leading a collaborative team, I used React.js to craft a scalable front-end for our ambitious project: the reconstruction of www.freebase.com (now Google Knowledge Graph) using Amazon Neptune.

The vast scale of the project, aimed at the Middle East and North Africa region, required careful management and collaboration with developers and companies globally, honing my leadership skills and technical acumen.
